Earn a Degree via Distance Learning

"I must admit that I did not think that I would like online learning, but after my encounters here at Grace, I have discovered that I love it. I can watch and rewatch my classes. The discussions allowed me to hear the written thoughts of others and respond. If I don't understand the principle or concept that I can always rewind and listen to it again."

Affordable

Allow Grace to Invest in Your Education

“The affordability of Grace just blew my mind. When all of a sudden the Lord tells you to go to a seminary, that would usually mean spending thousands and thousands more and some plans might be derailed. What happened was the price point of Grace is just so gracious, truly it is. I kept telling my dad, “Dad, these guys are really living up to their name, Grace.”

Attainable

Advance at Your Own Pace

“One of the things that were important to me was flexibility since I am a wife and a mom, and at that particular time, I started my work full-time. I love being able to watch a class in real-time even if I can’t make it to campus and if I’m not able to do that, then the following day I can still watch the archive video and I haven’t lost anything from the instruction phase.”

Merritt Johnston
Master of Divinity

“When I started studying in Grace. I started to feel the call of shepherding. That was the biggest impact in my life because I never recognized or noticed that (before).”

Karna Lal Pandey

BABS, Nepal

“We need to present Bible teachings to the new generation of Hispanic youth and to the church very clearly and within integrity. We are losing our young people to modern philosophies taught in school. An educational institution like Grace provides a great opportunity to prepare leaders for this challenge.

Pedro Alaniz González

MDiv, Mexico

“Eye Opening Mind Expanding”

At Grace I became much more of a critical thinker and able to make a better analysis to see how Scripture applied to people on a practical basis, being able to see a need and how the Bible attends to that need and it just expanded so much.

Grace Student Discipleship Groups (SDGs)

Be surrounded by wise counselors who spur you on to spiritual growth along with academic progress. You will be disciplined and will also learn to disciple others.

José Luis Ayala

BABS, Argentina

“For me, the discipleship group is very important. I like the work dynamic of being able to have a space that is no longer about studying the word or reading the books or doing the assignments but to sit down and talk about The Word perhaps with a cup of coffee. We debate, talk, ask for advice, listen to what the other one thinks, listen to what the leader tells us, and experience that impacted me.”

Shay Williams

AABS & BABS, USA

“The beautiful thing about leading a discipleship group for me is the impact it has on others. Discipleship is an investment in the life of another. Sometimes the return is somewhere down the road but sometimes it’s right on the spot. I have witnessed how prayers and words of encouragement can transform someone entering the meeting discouragement, upset, frustrated, and overwhelmed into leaving that very same meeting uplifted that is worth the sacrifice of leading a group.”

Danny Morel

MABS, Dominican Republic

“Being a discipleship group leader has been a great blessing in my life. Sharing the Word with my brothers in Christ brought out a lot of learning. Because of their first-hand experience in being disciplined, I have seen that many in my group have been motivated to continue the vision of implementing discipleship programs in their churches. I thank God for the opportunity to be a student discipleship leader at Grace.”

“It's a cool picture of how the Christianity is supposed to work. People that are in different places, they look different, that sound different, and part of different things. All uniting under Christ and we get to take part in that each week and it's been pretty cool for me.”
